

Retail Rap

Throw off the pumps and slide on the sandals, Indian summer's here, and our boho obsessions are leading us to the Mission. First stop: Monument at 572 Valencia Street, a vintage furniture shop stocked with "everything from Hollywood Regency to your typical mid-century modern designs topped off with some playful accoutrements," says Michael De Angelis, who runs the shop with co-owner Samuel Genthner ... A block farther at 3153 16th Street, Candystore San Francisco vends clothing designs from Gytha Mander and Miele Fresco, letterpress stationery from Parcoke & Franks and bags from Crease, plus owner Jennifer Jones and her business partner Jenny Klowden stock old-fashioned candy — who doesn't love a jawbreaker?

On the other side of town, Randy Schreck has left Spa Radiance for SenSpa, a new foot spa opening at 1161 Gorgas Street in the Presidio this March. Treatments inspired by Eastern and Western medicinal traditions will be offered in 14 treatment rooms housed in a converted World War I warehouse with a healing center and tea garden ... For hands that need attention right now, slip into Yan Lu's pastel palace, Le Creme Spa at 1971 Sutter Street near Fillmore. Bask on the sun-filled patio while your mani-pedi dries ... Up the street at International Orange, luxuriate with a two-hour Organic Rejuvenation Facial, featuring Dr. Hauschka and In Fiore products, starting with a warm cup of herbal infusion tea and an aromatic essential oil footbath ... Toss on a hat and some shades and traipse over the hill to Union Street MedSpa, at 1612 Union Street, for facials and skin-care treatments or refills of Obagi or SkinCeuticals face creams and potions in the old My Roommate's Closet space ... Scribblers and scribes alike are heading to Gump's for stationery from Soolip and Fertig. After all, if it's not on letterpress, is it really love? ... We've become accustomed to Treat Aveda Lifestyle Salon's little extras (a footbath before a haircut, a dab of lip gloss postcoloring), but this month, treat yourself to clothing from Tree, Vyeth, Rachel Pally, Marie Marie, T-shirts by Made and jeans by Stitches, Farmer, Kasil and People's Liberation. Renamed Treat Salon & Threads, the space will continue to function as a salon and every Aveda product will still line the shelves. And you thought you could keep yourself from shopping by having your hair done ... Abigail Piron's Union Street boutique Abigail Morgan is making a fuss over Lissa Lowe's new line of 100-percent cotton baby clothes called Fuss. Tiny clothing essentials including T-shirts, caps, bodysuits and bibs are silkscreened by hand and packaged with grosgrainribbon-adorned tags. A percentage of proceeds is donated to the Ovarian Cancer Research Fund ... We're winding Anna Beck silver or gold link necklaces around our necks this fall. Pieces from the jewelry line, designed by Becky Hosmer, are at all our favorite shops. Dialogue Dress Dylan HeidiSays Riley James and Zinc Details. Elizabeth Varnell

Rise and Dine

Brunch is the new dinner, and two of our toniest neighborhoods are giving us reason to primp and preen on weekend mornings. Chouquet's Restaurant, the French bistro in Pacific Heights on Fillmore and Washington, just created a new menu for brunch and lunch that includes tasty steamed salmon with sauce sornel and pommes persillées. A three-egg omelet, sautéed potatoes and a green salad kick off a sleepy Sunday. Russian Hill's lovely Luella at 1896 Hyde Street is plotting upscale brunch for discriminating diners. Watch the fog clear while dining on orange-and-sweet-ricotta fritters dipped in wild honey or sampling baked eggs with ham, fontina, tomatoes and toast. Chouquet's Restaurant, 2500 Washington Street, 415.359.0075; chouquets.com. Luella, 1896 Hyde Street, 415.674.4343; luellarest.com. Miss Sandpiper